

A letter from the editor

Dear members of ISOCARD,
Dear Readers of the Journal of Camelid Science,

The release of the 3rd issue of the Journal of Camelid Sciences reflects the continued interest in camelid research and a great opportunity for camelid researchers to communicate the results of their research to a wider scientific community. During the past few years camelid scientists have organised several international scientific meetings in different countries. More of these meetings are scheduled for 2011 and ISOCARD's 3rd conference will be held in Muscat, Oman 2012. The increase in the number of international meetings indicates a growing interest in camelid research and suggests that scientific journals that publish camelid research such as ours will become more attractive for publications. The release of the 3rd issue is another step forward, which will strengthen the position of our journal as a high quality peer refereed international camelid journal. I would like to take this opportunity and acknowledge the collective effort from authors, external reviewers and members of the editorial advisory board that was behind this achievement.

I welcome your comments on this issue and would like to take this opportunity to thank you for choosing the Journal of Camelid Science for your publications.

I am hoping that 2011 will bring another issue of the Journal of Camelid Science with excellent articles that we will all be proud of and will enjoy reading.

Wishing you all the best of luck

Editor-in-Chief
